

I SPY

READING (10 points)

A DAY IN MARTIN'S LIFE

Read the text. Then answer the questions. (10 points)

Every day, he gets up at seven o'clock in the morning. Then, at half past seven, he has breakfast. His breakfast is different to breakfast in Spain, he has one hamburger and a plate of chips.

Every Tuesday at eight, he checks the equipment at the police station. On Wednesdays, at a quarter past nine, he does some exercise and keeps fit.

There is lots of work to do at a police station; he is very busy all day. At one o'clock he stops and has lunch. His lunch is very tasty, a hot dog with ketchup. He is always in a hurry.

In the afternoon, he rests for an hour, and at half past five he sends his report to his headquarters in Washington. In the evening, he often "spies" on stars from his garden and he sometimes phones me.

At a quarter past eight, he has his supper, fish and chips, and then he goes to bed.
